AT SINGCAPITAL, WE believe in providing value to our clients beyond the fundamentals of financial planning and sincerely want to help them enrich their lives. We want to do this not just through our services but also by striving to educate the public on the nuts and bolts of financial planning.

In our continual effort to bringing useful financial planning tips to the public, we are glad to start the "Finer Finance" section with contributions from our Financial Consultants. Their views and expertise on various financial topics are gained not just through academic learning but from their years of practical experience in successfully planning for their clients.

We hope your journey with us in the future issues will be an enriching experience that will help you build a financial plan that lasts beyond your lifetime.

Besides the personal attention of our Financial Consultant that you may have engaged, we also organise public seminars for clients and the public. We just launched on the 29 September 2007 our "Wealth Management Series" on the hottest topic in town sharing our view about the opportunities in property investment. We had a roaring start to the series with close to three hundred satisfied participants. Other than public seminars, we also hold regular Investment Seminars for our clients on the investment outlook and opportunities.

We are confident that with our growing team of Financial Consultants, our aim and hope to enrich the lives of the people we serve beyond financial independence will be attained. TFL
